Consider Plans To Combat Food Crisis In World

Expect System Of Rigid Controls To Eliminate Food Waste In Nation

"FOOD CZAR" IS URGED BY HOOVER

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(INS)—Americans tightened their belts today to fight a world food crisis in which former president Herbert Hoover declared "The fate of civilization itself" is at stake.

Secretary of agriculture Anderson was expected to launch a system of rigid controls toward elimination of unnecessary consumption and hoarding of food as a result of the White House "famine conference."

Hoover recommended that Anderson be given "all control" over the American food supply. He called on the people to halt food wastage and reduce bread consumption by at least 2 percent to permit shipment of wheat abroad.

Meet At Truman's Call
Anderson, secretary of commerce Wallace and assistant secretary of state Clayton met in the executive mansion with 13 civic and industrial leaders headed by Hoover and Chester Davis, former war food administrator.

They met at President Truman's call to define an "aggressive voluntary program" which will permit the United States to rush aid to an estimated half billion hungry people in Europe and Asia.

Hoover declared that only "human misery and chaos" can result unless the challenge is met. He said: "The fate of civilization itself depends on this." (Continued on Page Fifteen)

PA NEW OBSERVES

Junior Johnston of Miller avenue, R. D. 2, reports to Pa. News that he saw a scarlet tanager perched this morning on a bush in his front yard.

The new parking meters which were installed by the city so intrigued one local citizen, waiting on the bus Friday afternoon, that the bus came and left, and still the citizen stood and gazed at the meters.

There were 75 babies born at the Jameson Memorial hospital during the month of February, records there show, which was only two short of the all-time record for that month established in February, 1943. In February of 1945 there were 63 births at the hospital, and 69 in February 1944.

When March comes in like a lamb, people just can't resist it. Pa. News noticed a number of people passing up the buses Friday evening to go home after work. A number of other people—or maybe it was the same ambitious person—were strolling down the hill later in the evening. Today's rain put an abrupt end to any pleasant spring fever, however.

Sara Dana Davis of 212 North Mill street reported to Pa. News on Friday afternoon that she can remember vividly when the post office was formerly in the same block where the present office stands, in a building known as the Cunningham block. David Tidball was the postmaster at the time.

An old fashioned scene was enacted on East street Friday afternoon when a large load of hay was seen being hauled up the street destined for some farm which perhaps did not have enough to last the winter. The hay was loose and not in bales, either.

Daily Weather Report

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today follow:
Maximum temperature, 61.
Minimum temperature, 40.
Precipitation, .07 inches.
River stage 9 feet.
Statistics for the same date a year ago follow:
Maximum temperature, 50.

CANDIDATES FOR "MISS NOBODY"

There are too many "queens" say Syracuse University students and it's high time for a change. Accordingly the school paper has started a "Miss Nobody" contest and here three co-eds (l. to r.) Joyce Wood, Rutland, Vermont; Clarice Anderson, Jamestown, N. Y.; and Laura Pilarski, Niagara Falls, N. Y., prepare to cast their ballots.

Power Strike Is Voted Down

Duquesne Power Company Employees Vote Strongly For Arbitration

STRIKE THREAT TO PITTSBURGH LIFTED

PITTSBURGH, March 2.—(INS)—Pittsburgh's twice postponed power strike was headed for arbitration today when union members last night voted down a walkout by nearly a three to one majority.

The vote was 1,308 for arbitration to 423 against. Within a few minutes after the vote was completed, George Mueller, union president, withdrew instructions for the Duquesne Light company's 3,400 independent union members to walk off the job at 12:01 A. M. Tuesday.

Hearings were scheduled to commence in two weeks. Three Man Board
A three-man board—one selected by the union, another by the company and a third by the government—will compose the panel, whose findings and recommendations are (Continued on Page Two)

Four Persons Are Found Dead In Parked Car

WAKEFIELD, Mass., March 2.—(INS)—Four persons were found dead today, apparently asphyxiated, in an automobile parked near Lake Quannapoxett.

They were found by police after neighbors complained about the automobile, which was parked on a side street near the lake. The bodies were taken to an undertaking parlor, where they were identified as:
Antonio Pagliuca, 32, Medford, owner of the car, and Mrs. Gertrude Burnett, 25; William Allen Roberts, 38, and Miss Virginia Stevens, 23, all of Stoneham.

Thiel Student Killed In Crash

Two Others In Critical Condition Result Of Accident Near Meadville

MEADVILLE, Pa., March 2.—(INS)—Gerald Becker, 24, of Erie, a Thiel college student and former air corps veteran, was dead and two others persons were in critical condition today as a result of their car being forced off the highway near Meadville.

Pennsylvania police said that a runaway trailer-truck forced the car containing the three off the highway and over a 15-foot embankment.
Helen Louise Bovard, 24, of West-leyville, and Leonard Otis, also of Erie, were in Spencer hospital at Meadville critically injured.

TOKYO JAPS IN MASS SPENDING

TOKYO, March 2.—(INS)—Japanese in Tokyo went on their last mass spending spree today in an attempt to make the most of their old currency which will not be legal tender after tonight.

Old currency must be turned in to banks and other agencies under the anti-inflation program and withdrawals in new currency will be severely limited.

Most of the prospective buyers found little in the way of merchandise.

School Board Names Douglas As Floor Coach

Greensburg High School Basketball Coach Selected For New Castle High School

BRIDENBAUGH TO DIRECT FOOTBALL

At an "executive session" held Friday evening in the board room of the school administration building, on East street, William P. Douglas, of Greensburg, was selected as basketball coach at Senior high school for the period of three years, at a salary of $800 in addition to his teaching salary of $2,500. He will also have supervision of the basketball program in the Junior high schools, and according to the motion on the election, "any other duties assigned him under the supervision of schools."

Philip G. Bridenbaugh, who has been head coach of all sports here since 1922, was elected football coach for a period of three years, beginning June 1, 1946, at a salary of $2,500 in addition to his teaching salary of $2,500.

Coach At Greensburg
Mr. Douglas, who starred at basketball for Westminster College, has been basketball coach at Greensburg for the past nine years, during which time he has won five sectional championships in nine years. (Continued on Page Two)

Garage And Autos Burn Early Today

Serious Damage Results In Blaze At Home Of Raymond F. Horchler

Fire, which is believed to have started from a short circuit in the wiring of an automobile, destroyed the garage and contents, and communicated to the home of Raymond F. Horchler, of 515 W. Clayton street, at 6:30 o'clock this morning. Damage of around $4,500 resulted, which is partially covered by insurance. Fire Chief James E. Thomas reported.

When discovered, the blaze had gained considerable headway. Two alarms were sounded from Box 79, and a third alarm was turned in by someone from Box 78, which brought every fire company to the scene but one.

A 1941 Buick sedan was totally destroyed, and serious damage was done to a 1937 Buick sedan, which were in the garage. The blaze spread to the back of the Horchler home, but firemen succeeded in preventing serious damage to the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Horchler and son were asleep when the fire was discovered.

Pauley Hearing Halt Is Called

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(INS)—Senate Democratic leaders called a four-day halt in the Edwin W. Pauley nomination hearings today in an effort to work out a solution to an admittedly embarrassing political dilemma.

Authoritative sources indicated the senate naval affairs committee recess until next Wednesday would be utilized in trying to induce Pauley to withdraw his nomination as undersecretary of the navy.

Double Murder Is Disclosed In State Of Indiana

Man And Woman Found Beaten To Death Near Bloomington, Ind.

BODIES FOUND IN ABANDONED QUARRY

(Bulletin)
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 2.—(INS)—Police announced today that a Bloomington stone quarry executive, 42, and a 32-year-old woman friend, both singers in their church choir, were found brutally murdered in a nearby sludge pit. The victims were Russell Koonitz, formerly superintendent of the Sunday school of the Clear Creek Christian church, and Mrs. Phyllis Coleman, a dressmaker, employee with whom he was associated in church work.

Both of them were married. Koonitz had been clubbed to death and Mrs. Coleman was believed to have been strangled.

There was a deep mark around her throat, although no cord was found.

Bodies Are Found
The bodies were found after a search instituted by Koonitz's wife, Ruth, and Ben Smith, a business associate of Koonitz in the Empire State company.

After the discovery of the bodies Sheriff Albert H. Skirvin questioned Mrs. Coleman's husband, Kenneth, a lunchroom worker, but released him.

Smith said Koonitz left his office yesterday noon to visit an abandoned quarry to look over some machinery the Empire company planned to purchase.

Search Is Started
When he had not returned by midnight, Mrs. Koonitz telephoned Smith, who picked up Sheriff Skirvin. They drove to the abandoned quarry.

There they found Koonitz's car. A further search disclosed blood in an old tool shed and a bloody trail led them to the sludge pit 30 feet away.

The bodies were found in 18 inches of water in the pit, which was six feet deep. State police thought both victims had been bound head and foot.

Both Koonitz and Mrs. Coleman were singers in the church choir.

The sheriff and state and city police discounted the theory that robbery had been the motive for the crime when $107 was found on Koonitz's body.

They said there were two sets of boot tracks and automobile tire marks near the scene of the murders.

There was every indication that a terrific struggle had preceded the slayings.

Koonitz had one child, but Mrs. Coleman had childless.

Body Of Paul Tasote Is Found Near His Home Friday Afternoon

Paul Tasote, aged 57 years, of Bessemer, ended his own life sometime Friday afternoon by shooting himself through the chest with a 12 gauge shotgun. Deputy Coroner Peter Rupp announced today.

Tasote, who had been in ill health and who recently underwent an operation, is believed to have been despondent over this fact. He suggested to his wife Friday morning that she take the family car and go to Lowellville. Sometime after noon he went to a ravine in the rear of his home, where he rigged up the shotgun to a small tree, placing a piece of string to the trigger, and the end of the barrel against his chest, leaning against the gun to discharge it.

New Ceiling Prices For Basic Steel Products

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(INS)—The way was open today for price relief to strike-bound fabricating companies through new ceiling prices for basic steel products. OPA announced the new prices which represented increases ranging from $2 to $12 per ton. They are applied at the steel mill level. The increases follow:
Carbon steel products:
Ingots and sheet bars (all types and qualities) $2 per gross ton; blooms, billets, slabs and tube rounds of all qualities except forging, $3 per gross ton; skelp, 15 cents per hundred pounds; forging, billets and blooms, $5 per gross ton.
Structural shapes and piling, 25 cents per hundred pounds; plates 25 cents per hundred pounds; rails (all types and grades except light rails) $5 per net ton; light rails (all types and grades) $9 per net ton.
Splice bars 15 cents per hundred pounds; tie plates 25 cents per hundred pounds; hot rolled merchant bars and bar-sized shapes (all types and grades) 25 cents per hundred pounds.
Concrete reinforcing bars 20 cents per hundred pounds; not rolled wire rods 15 cents per hundred pounds; manufacturers' wire and merchant quality wire, 30 cents per hundred pounds.
Nails and staples 35 cents per (Continued on Page Two)

Modifications Of Price Control Urged In Extending Law

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(INS)—A House postwar economic policy subcommittee recommended today continuation of price control for at least one more year, but called for major modifications in the law.

The subcommittee's stand, tentatively approved by the full committee, is in contrast to an administration effort to extend the price control law without change for a year from its present expiration date on June 30.

The House banking committee, which has conducted two weeks of hearings on the OPA extension law is in recess today.

Modifications Urged
The recommended modifications were:
1. Establishment of a five-year period—1936-41—as the base period for setting up standards for deseri-

St. David's Day Is Celebrated

Annual Banquet Is Event Of Friday Evening At Epworth Church

At the Epworth Methodist church, Friday evening, March 1, about 250 American Welsh folks and friends gathered to celebrate St. David's Day, honoring the patron saint of Wales. The occasion took the form of a banquet with an appropriate program.

The event opened with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." Rev. Thomas J. Jones, pastor of the First Congregational church, gave the invocation.

Griff Thomas led the assembly singing, and Mrs. J. M. Evans was accompanist during the evening.

Davis Toastmaster
Mrs. Margaret Trehanne, grand vice president of the True Ivories of America, and chairlady, introduced Ivor J. Davis as toastmaster of the evening, who officiated in a splendid manner. Mrs. Trehanne stated that the members of Star of Wales and Martha lodges of Ivories had rendered splendid service toward making the affair such a success. Greetings were extended to (Continued on Page Fifteen)

Argentina Faces More Turmoil

BUENOS AIRES, March 2.—(INS)—Argentina observers viewing complete returns from last Sunday's presidential election believed today that the country had plunged itself into a new and terribly grave political situation.

They held that neither of the presidential candidates could hold office for any length of time even after winning the election. Incomplete returns failed to show a definite majority for either Strong-Man Col. Juan Peron or the Democratic candidate Dr. Jose Tamborini.

Camp Reynolds Is Inactivated

SHARON, Pa., March 2.—(INS)—Camp Reynolds was inactivated today and returned to control of the district engineer's office at Baltimore.

The camp was opened in January, 1943, and operated for nearly a year. It was built at a cost of 20 million dollars.

Price Relief Is Cited As Need Of Small Concerns

New Ceiling Prices For Basic Steel Products Scrutinized By Plant Heads

STRIKE STILL HOLDS MANY SMALL PLANTS

(BULLETIN)
PITTSBURGH, March 2.—(INS)—The squeeze was on non-integrated steel manufacturers and fabricators today and many firms faced permanent shutdowns despite new government ceiling prices on basic steel products.

Spokesmen for the small steel-dependent companies said what they needed was price relief for the commodities they manufacture, adding: "We are in the same position we were when the steel strike started."

Pittsburgh, March 2.—(INS)—Fabricators and small steel-dependent manufacturers today were studying the government's new ceiling prices for basic steel products.

J. S. Ervin, president of the Tri-state Industrial Association, and Arthur B. Davies, president of the Smaller Manufacturers Council of Pittsburgh, said that until a thorough study of the entire price increase is made they could not comment.

Price Relief Only Plan
Meanwhile, fabricators reiterated that price relief is the only way the nation's 34 plants can resume business and return more than 250,000 employees back to work.

Earlier stabilization director Chester Bowles charged that collective bargaining is stalled "because management insisted on price adjustments in advance of wage adjustments."

Ray Booth, secretary-manager of the association, said that many firms lost money before the steel strike because prices were frozen at (Continued on Page Fifteen)

Navy Protest Soviet Attacks On U. S. Planes

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(INS)—U. S.-Soviet relations underwent another test today as a result of the disclosure that Russian planes had attacked two American navy seaplanes near Darien, Manchuria. The Navy Department announced it was registering a protest with the Soviet government shortly after the United States voiced strenuous disapproval of Russia's action in stripping Manchuria of Japanese war industries.

These two developments also came as the American government apprehensively watched Iran where Soviet troops were scheduled to be withdrawn today. Thus far no official information has been received in Washington to indicate that Russia will withdraw its troops as had been provided many months ago by international agreement.

The navy protested action of two Russian fighter planes firing on a navy plane which flew into the Darien area February 20 contrary to orders.

Spanish Border Situation Quiet

PARIS, March 2.—(INS)—The tense situation along the closed Franco-Spanish frontier remained quiet and without incident today despite international pressure for the formation of a democratic government within Spain.

No disturbances were reported as the border between the two countries was closed completely. Quiet prevailed although French sources complained that Franco's border guards and troops had been reinforced in a significant and dangerous manner.

The French, in a note to Washington, London and Moscow, advocated bringing the Spanish problem before the security council of the UNO.

(Reports from London said that the Allies gave Franco one month to relinquish power, and that failing that the Allies would force the issue.)

There's fever in his system, there's a flush upon his brow, he's for going out and playing and he wants to do it now. It's a polter just an average, but the germ is in his blood, he would play in winter's snow storm or the early spring mud. He needs very little coaxing to drop all his work and hike to the golf course for his hobby on a bus or on a bike. And he hopes for better weather (that from snow and mud is free, he's a polter with a reter, and the weather's forty-three.

Mahoning Twp. Ballot Battle Is Again In Court

Once again, the Mahoning township ballot battle is before the court of Lawrence County. A petition has been filed by five voters of the third precinct asking that the ballot box be opened and the ballots counted, citing as their reason for the petition their belief that substantial fraud exists. The petition is presented in behalf of Anthony Micci, Republican candidate for supervisor, last November who believes the recount will return him a winner over Frances Greig who was declared a winner some weeks ago and has been serving as a supervisor.

The decision as to who was the winner teetered back and forth several times with both men apparently winning. Both the first and second precinct ballot boxes have been opened and with the third unopened, the vote was in favor of Greig.

The third precinct box was opened and sufficient error found to give Micci the decision but the petition to open it was filed by voters of the second precinct and the court held that the count would not stand. This petition is signed by Clarence Theilman, Joseph Main, Rock Chutz, Lewis Appell and Donald D. Miller.

Judge John G. Lamoree, before whom the petition is laid, has appointed Attorneys Elmer D. O'Neill and Merle Hildebrand, and James B. Foster and George A. Patterson, as tellers. The box will be opened on Tuesday morning, March 5, at 9 o'clock.

LULL IN DEBATE ON HOUSING BILL

powers only to homes which will be completed after the effective date of the law.

Previously, the House had voted by an overwhelming majority to reduce the effective period of the emergency law by six months—to June 30, 1947, instead of December 31, 1947, as sought by the administration.

Regulations Covering Costs

After adopting an amendment limiting ceiling price powers to new homes, the House quickly approved regulations covering costs which must be taken into consideration by the housing expediter in setting the ceiling prices.

They are:

"1. Reasonable construction costs not in excess of legal maximum prices of the materials and services required for the construction.

"2. The fair market value of the land immediately prior to construction and improvements sold with the housing accommodations, and mining industrial price ceilings, instead of the present 1936-39 period.

"3. A margin of profit reflecting the general prevailing profit margin upon comparable units during the calendar year 1941."

MODIFICATION OF PRICE CONTROL URGED IN EXTENDING LAW

2. Use of this base period, which includes the greater productive years of 1940 and 1941, in computing average profits on which reconversion wage-price formulas should be based.

3. Establishment of industry-wide current cost allowances, plus a "reasonable" profit, on essential low-cost products to be listed by the OPA and the Civilian Production Administration.

4. Modified pricing standards for high-priced consumer goods to permit realization of total production costs.

The subcommittee views were contained in a report which will be published after committee approval.

The report said that "the threat of cumulative inflation is too great to permit abolition of the power to control prices in general before June, 1947, and in some cases (notably rents) before January, 1948, or later."

Foremen's Club Gathers Friday

Members of the Foremen's club of the United Engineering and Foundry held their monthly dinner meeting Friday night in a Wilmington road restaurant, with about 44 members present.

The speaker of the evening was A. H. Reizmann who has been a representative of the U. S. Treasury Department in war bond sales for two years. Mr. Reizmann talked of the industrial history of New Castle, the activity here in behalf of industry during the depression and expressed the satisfaction of New Castle people at the location of the United Engineering and Foundry Company plant here.

Sidney Turner, the president of the club, presided and introduced the speaker. The evening was an enjoyable one, a good dinner being followed by a social period.

Albert L. Hilborn Dies In California

Russell C. Melvin, secretary of the New Castle Consistory, received a telegram, this morning, informing him of the death of Albert L. Hilborn, former superintendent of the bar mill of the Carnegie Illinois Steel company in this city. Mr. Hilborn died in Santa Ana, Calif.

A brother, Claude H. Hilborn, resides at 1210 Highland avenue.

Funeral arrangements are not known here.

When King Tut's tomb was discovered a couple of decades ago it was found to contain more treasure than a pirate's dream.

SCHOOL BOARD NAMES DOUGLAS AS FLOOR COACH

He is a teacher of commercial subjects and English. His contract will start June 1, 1946, but he will not assume charge of the basketball program until next fall.

Mr. Douglas was not present at last night's meeting, the only applicant in attendance being Philip G. Rice, of Duquesne, Pa., who is also one of the standing high school floor coaches in Western Pennsylvania. He made a favorable impression on the board members, but was eliminated in the final selection.

Members of the board were in executive session for over two hours, before they went into regular session, when the report of the committee was unanimously accepted.

Vote On Salary

The vote to fix the salary of football coach at $2,500 found Reynolds and Woolcock dissenting. Reynolds was the only one opposed to the election of Bridenbaugh as football coach when the final vote on this motion was taken.

All members of the board were present except C. L. Shira, who was confined to his home by illness.

Superintendent of Schools Frank L. Burton was directed by the board to consult Mr. Douglas relative to the appointment of an assistant basketball coach, who will also be physical education instructor in the schools, and have charge of intramural basketball. This will be taken up at the next meeting of the board.

Soon after the convening, the board voted to go into executive session, and all except the members of the board were excluded while the matter of selecting the basketball coach and other athletic problems were threshed out.

Eleven Applicants

There were 11 applicants in all several of whom have completed viable records in basketball, and no doubt any one of whom would have fitted the bill. They included L. Butler, Hennon of Wampum, L. A. R. Norton of Altoona, Pa., former coach at Ben Franklin Junior H. and Aspinwall, Tudor Lewis of Fairview, former Westminster floor star; Donald Moore of Sharon, former Duquesne star; Phil Risher of Duquesne, former Westminster star; Douglas, Joe Spivey of South Hills, former Westminster star; Frank Norton of New Castle, former Slippery Rock star; John Engelson of New Wilmington, now at Oakmont; Clarence S. Major, formerly of New Castle but now located at Pikeville, college, Pikeville, Ky., and Luke V. Dolozel of Freeport.

Go Into Executive Session

When the vote to go into executive session was taken, Messrs Hyde, Brookover and Jackson dissented, with Messrs Cleland and Brandle voting in favor.

In addition to electing the two coaches and fixing their salaries, the board adopted the suggestion presented by Superintendent of Schools Burton, that all head coaches carry a normal teaching schedule and not be free from teaching obligations until approximately 2:30 p. m.

Mr. Burton presented a suggested program for the high school. As the text of this presentation was as follows:

"1.—The possibility of securing a director of health and physical education for the city—a person who could coordinate a health and athletic program.

"2.—What sports will be offered in the senior high school.

"3.—How much coaching salary will be paid for each sport.

It was further suggested that the sports offered include football, basketball, track, boxing, wrestling, golf, cross country, gymnasies and intra-mural. That a junior varsity football team be made up of non-varsity players, to be held in tact for the season.

Athletic Organization

"That all head coaches carry a normal teaching schedule as adopted by the board; that all coaches be subject to the principal of the school the same as any other teacher; that one person be designated head football coach; that one person be designated head track coach and assistant football coach; that one person be designated assistant football coach and assistant track coach; that one person be designated head basketball coach and golf coach; that one person be designated physical education instructor and assistant basketball coach; that one person be designated coach of wrestling, boxing and cross country; that Boyles field be made available for high school use; that the number of paid positions handling athletics be reduced by combining some and that cooperation and not domination be the watchword of the program."

Card Of Thanks

We wish in this way to express our sincere gratitude and thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown us at our recent bereavement and the death of our beloved wife and mother. Especially do we wish to thank Rev. E. D. Lupton and wife for their comforting words and songs so beautifully rendered and those who sent the floral offerings and to those who donated the services of their cars or helped in any way.

SWARTY MORGAN WEDDING PERFORMED

Miss Allene Swarty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Swarty of Windsor street, McKeesport, and James T. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Morgan of Cunningham avenue, were united in marriage on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 in the home of the bridegroom, Rev. George B. Morgan of Washington, Pa., officiating.

The bride was attired in a lavender ensemble and a shoulder orchid corsage.

Mrs. R. L. Tanner, as matron of honor wore a grey ensemble and yellow and pink roses corsage.

Raymond Phillips, Jr., served as best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bridegroom.

Upon their return from their wedding trip, they will reside for the present at the Morgan residence.

Mr. Morgan was recently discharged from the army.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Swarty of McKeesport, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Matthews, Dravosburg, Pa. and Mrs. Olive Wennerstrom of McKeesport, Pa.

Wanted: A New Chairman

The impending resignation of Herbert Brownell Jr. as chairman of the Republican National committee confronts his party with an extremely important decision in this election year. A party's success at the polls depends in no small measure on the vigor and ability of its national chairman and this is especially true when it is out of power, as the Republicans are today. For the chairman must supply, to some extent, the overall leadership that, in the case of the Democrats, comes from the White House.

Mr. Brownell's decision will be something of a blow to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, whose gubernatorial and presidential campaigns he ran. It sets the stage for a renewal of the struggle between traditional Republicans and "liberals" for possession of the party machinery. The outcome of this struggle will go a long way toward determining the complexion of the party in the next few critical years and it will also have its effect on the contest for the Presidential nomination two years from now.

A host of independent voters, as well as Republican party members, will watch with interest to see where the choice falls. For it is becoming more apparent with each passing day that the drive which has kept the Democrats in power for so long is running down. The loose coalition of conservatives and New Dealers, held together by the late President Roosevelt, is breaking up and its disintegration is reflected in the mounting confusion, indecision, and demoralization which mark the administration in Washington.

Vigorous, forward-looking, and decisive leadership is badly needed now. The Republicans may never have a better opportunity to prove that they are ready to step into the breach. It would be a loss not only to the party but to the country as a whole if they let it go by default.

Foreigners Must Wait

When American production finally gets down to business, with most of the two million industrial workers back on the job, goods will begin to flow and Americans will start to get some of the things they have been wanting. But it looks like a considerably longer pull before foreign customers are served.

Foreign nations want all kinds of things, and some of them have the money to buy now. Others have to wait on loans from the United States and these will be deferred while Congress thrashes out the huge loan to Britain. But if the foreigners have the money, they will all be prime customers in a market where there is precious little to buy.

The administration is moving to extend the Export Control Act which expires July 1. Under it government agencies can determine which foreign buyers are to get American products. But it is a safe bet the administration is not going to permit a huge export of American goods, outside of necessities like food, while the American people are denied. There are Congressional elections this year and a presidential election in 1948. Exporting scarce goods at the expense of the American people would make too good a campaign issue for the opposition.

Probably Americans will get the bulk of the output of industry this year with the foreigners having to wait until 1947. If industries hadn't been halted by strikes, of course, the export market would have boomed earlier. As it is some foreign industries are likely to get under way before America is ready, and so this nation may be deprived of markets it otherwise would have had.

What These Strikes Are Costing The Country

In reporting that the country's industrial output in January slumped to the lowest level since the spring of 1941, Mr. Small, Civilian Production Administrator, scarcely needed to state the cause.

The nation-wide strikes gave a staggering blow to reconversion and production just as postwar recovery was getting into its stride.

For a brief period industry was going full steam ahead and gathering fresh momentum. The predictions of the 60-million jobbers and other pessimistic prophets regarding widespread unemployment were shown up as glaringly bad guesses.

Then came the strikes which labor bosses had been busily planning and threatening since long before V-J Day.

General Motors was the first to be hit. Its tie-up affected a broad range of related or dependent industries.

The steel strike didn't start until 10 days before the end of January, so its full effects don't appear in the month's figures.

Some hundreds of thousands of steel workers have not yet returned. There is no need to dwell on what the continuing strikes against General Electric and numerous other industries have done to reconversion.

But even when strikes are ended, much time must elapse—five or six weeks in the case of steel—before production gets back into full stride.

The strike of C.I.O. electrical, radio and machine workers has had the worst effects on consumer goods, although it began only in the middle of January.

What all these strikers have lost in wages, which in some instances may take years of labor to make up is only one item in the total cost. The creation of scarcities means mounting prices and costs of living which may make a mockery of bigger pay envelopes filled with depreciated dollars.

The cost of these strikes to the American people as a whole becomes incalculable when all the factors are considered, including the impetus to perilous inflation.

It is sheer lunacy to allow strikes to menace an entire nation's prosperity by weakening or destroying the very foundation of its economy: full production.

Whenever that happens and however the blame may be apportioned among labor, employers or bungling, fumbling, temporizing governmental policies, we come up against the hard fact that this country simply can't afford such strikes. Our winning of the greatest war in history will count as nothing unless America can gain and maintain industrial peace.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

If Joe Stalin keeps marching on it won't be long until Russia will have real security with the Pacific and Atlantic oceans for boundaries.

Joseph Davies says Russia has a right to the atom bomb secret. There were those, a few years ago, who contended Hitler had a right to Poland.

We don't know whether or not Harold Ickes will ever want to rejoin the Republican party, but if we were National Chairman Brownell he would always keep a restraining order handy.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Atomic Energy Plan Needs Action

WASHINGTON, March 2—Having heard the nation's leading scientists, principal industrialists and chief members of the government, the Senate Atomic Energy committee recalled, as a final witness, Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, the man who happened to be the engineer in charge of construction in the atomic bomb project. It is a measure of the fear and timidity that dominate our thinking on atomic energy.

Groves is a West Pointer, an army engineer. He advanced by slow stages from rank to rank. For fifteen years he was a first lieutenant. The army engineers are an efficient, capable body of men who perform many useful tasks. Assigned to the atomic bomb project, Groves had an opportunity to prove his capacities in a phenomenal way, and he did prove himself.

Not Scientist
He is not a scientist. He is not an expert in government. He is not an industrialist. He is not a philosopher or a creative thinker. Yet eleven United States senators, presumably representing the seniority and the wisdom of the Senate, solemnly listened as he expounded his views on what to do with atomic energy in peacetime.

It was an extraordinary spectacle. The men with political responsibilities have a bear by the tail. It's the biggest and most ferocious bear the world has ever seen. Helplessly, almost pathetically, they turn to the man who has led the bear and brought it up to maturity.

Groves, in his wind-up before the committee argued for keeping atomic energy the exclusive property of the military as a weapon of world destruction. That, when you pare it down, was what he said. He proposed a commission to be made up of five civilians and four military men, but the decisions of the commission could be vetoed by the joint chiefs of staff.

This is in opposition, as Groves acknowledged with the kind of good-natured impudence that characterized his testimony, to the stand taken by his commander-in-chief, President Truman has gone all out for the bill of Chairman McMahon of the Senate Atomic committee which would vest sole control of atomic energy in a full-time civilian commission representing the best brains and character we have.

Needs More Support
But like so many things the President favors, he stops short with a nod of approval and a friendly pat on the head. Congress takes such gestures for what they are worth.

It requires something more than that to get a bill through Congress which puts responsibility for atomic energy where it belongs—in the civil government of the United States. It is by no means a perfect measure. It needs amending and safeguarding in several directions.

After it has been carefully revised, then the objective should be to get active support for it from both Democratic and Republican Senators. A wise move would be to have it reintroduced with the names of the other Democrats and three Republicans added as cosponsors. Then it would no longer have the slightest appearance of partisanship.

Something like this must be done quickly. Otherwise, through uncertainty and timidity, the bill that finally comes out of committee will make atomic energy a military weapon, with all that that means in rivalry between the nations.

That is the Groves pattern, the pattern of the military mind. It is clearly discernible in all that he says. It is the pattern of the days of the Argonauts and the sling.

"We've got it. We can keep ahead of a generation. Of course, if somebody has miscalculated and the world is blown up, then anyway there'll be nobody left to blame."

This last is the ultimate in Groves' irresponsibility. If the Senate has no other answer, then we are bankrupt for sure.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:58. Sun rises tomorrow, 6:27.

True remorse consists in being sorry even when you find out you won't have to pay for it.

A Montana soldier hurried home as fast as he could, expecting to surprise his family. Instead of that, they surprised him. When he dashed up to his home in a taxi and ran up the steps, he found a quarantined sign on the house. His mother and sister had the measles, and the best he could do was to greet them through the window and then go to the home of relatives. It was probably his last soldierly gripe.

Science isn't so smart, nobody yet knows why things fall down instead of up, or what holds the sun up.

If you know someone who you think is dumb and want to compare him to something, say he's as dumb as a baboon. Down in Dallas, Tex., they have a baboon in their city zoo, which has a nice warm home, but recently he stayed out in the cold too long and now the city has to pay a veterinarian for treating the animal for a free-bitten tail.

True goodness is like charm. The only people who have it are those who don't know it.

MODERN EFFICIENCY

Patron: "Honestly, now, is this hair-growth good?"

Barber: "Good? Why my dear sir, so you see this hair brush I am using? Well, until some of this hair-growth got spilled on it by accident last week, it was just a ping-pong paddle."

"German girls sell their virtue for a bar of chocolate. Well, if they have a little virtue, it isn't worth a dime."

Why do they call them Irish potatoes when they didn't originate in Ireland? Well, it is claimed that Ireland produces more potatoes per acre than any other country in the world. The Irish yield averages 93 tons per acre. Well, that's a lot more per acre than the lumping potatoes a colleague of ours raised last summer in his victory garden. When he went to dig them, he says, "I couldn't find a single potato, and claimed they had jumped over into his neighbor's garden."

Miami Beach, Fla., rated one of the fastest-growing cities in the world has no cemented industrial plants, streets, cars, railroad stations, airports. They probably just send their dead out to California to be buried, just to keep up the feud between the two rival sunshine states.

HE SURE WILL

Private Smith (board an Atlantic liner): "Sarge, I'm beginning to feel seasick. What can I do?"

Sarge: "Don't worry, son. You'll do it."

If you want to perk up a faded appetite, go in for skiing. On the first Snow Express run by an eastern railroad out of New York since the start of the war, ten carloads of skiers ate 377 pounds of meat and drank 66 gallons of coffee.

Rats will soon find that being tickled is no laughing matter, when they bump into a new rat trap which has just been invented. This electric rat trap tickles the bottoms of their feet, so they rush into a death chamber, where they are destroyed. In other words, "Just tickled to death."

An Indianapolis man is absolutely convinced that black cats are bad luck. As he and a friend started on a fishing trip, a black cat crossed their path. They didn't catch anything, and on the way home the man was attacked by an owl which scratched up his head very badly.

The Sheep Hill Philosopher says that people who throw kisses are mighty near hopelessly lazy.

A new cigarette lighter has been invented, which it is claimed, will last 30 per cent longer than anything on the market. Ah! Now will it light 30 per cent of the time?

Pretty soon your wife can go to the movies and bring home the family dinner, without going out of her way. Officials of a coin vending machine company forecast mechanically refrigerated machines which will vend frozen fruits, vegetables and meats, and which will be placed in the lobbies of the theaters. Great days are coming.

NOT SO GOOD

Teacher: "Pointing to a deer at the zoo: 'Johnny, what is that?'"
Johnny: "I don't know."
Teacher: "What does your mother call your father?"
Johnny: "Don't tell me that's a house!"

Give us a new idea to solve the money problem. Eastern Europeans are hungry in the midst of abundance because their money has lost its value.

We are fooled by time. Giving a man a lethal dose of poison is murder. If it takes ten years to kill him, selling it is honest business.

The Pharisee's fault was that he felt superior, yet who ever read about him without feeling superior to him?

Tests show that G. I. is full for German propaganda. Five more years and we'll begin to apologize for liking them.

The ancients killed people to please their god; future historians will read our "romics" and think we did it for a laugh.

Fable: Once there was a man who came from work and didn't say "Why hate you got the house so cold?"

IT'S A PLEASURE

Miss Jones went into her kitchen to find the maid sitting on the butter's lap.

"Is that what I pay you for?" she stormed.

"No, madam," replied the maid. "I do this for nothing."

Proper test of blood pressure: Sit up alone to read a murder mystery at midnight, have a window shade break loose and zip to the top.

WHEN DO WEDDING GUESTS STAND?

"At what point in a church wedding ceremony should the guests stand? I know that the bride-mother is the last person seated. When should she arrive at the church?"

Answer: The guests should stand when the wedding march is begun on the organ, at which time the bride procession starts down the aisle. They should remain standing throughout the ceremony and the recessional, unless it is a Nuptial Mass when at times kneel.

The immediate families of the bride and the bridegroom should plan to arrive a few minutes before the appointed hour for the ceremony. They wait until the way is clear for them to go down the aisle.

The bridegroom's mother is seated by an usher in the first pew on the right. The father follows directly behind.

The bride's mother walks in the vestibule until the bride party has arrived, giving latecomers a few minutes' grace. After she is seated, guests who arrive after her must stand in the back or go quietly to a side pew in the back of the church.

The bride should arrive a few minutes after the appointed hour of her wedding so that all will have been seated prior to her entrance.

Question: A neighbor in a community into which I have just moved called on me when I was not at home. She left her card. Does this mean that I should return her call or should I wait until she calls again?

Answer: Her card, left in your absence, constitutes a visit, which must be returned, preferably within a week.

Present your problems to Miss Merkel who will promptly mail personal replies to readers' incoming stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

My secretary just showed me a picture of an Egyptian lady of some three thousand years ago.

It was a very amusing picture, she thought.

"Just look at that!" she said with a condescending smile. "Look at those gewgaws. Look at those crazy rings and those six or seven necklaces she is wearing. Look at those funny sandals with the toes sticking out and look - - -"

"Wait a minute, Jean. I interrupted, 'look at yourself. Look at your lipstick and your rouge and look at your toes sticking out of your shoes and look at your long red fingernails and that crazy pin you are wearing on your blouse.'"

"Where do you think you are any less funny than that Egyptian queen or whatever she is?"

Crestfallen, Jean went out for a glass of water, and I read a newspaper article which might well have appeared in the Egyptian fashion magazine of 3,000 years ago.

The article told all about an accessories exhibit held this week at the Waldorf Astoria. It is what women wear TODAY, not when Ramesses was king.

"Emphasis at the waistline and above was achieved by means of eye-catching belts and scarfs manipulated in new ways, and jewelry handled with a flair," the article said.

"In one instance a belt at the waist was matched with its twin slung through the top of an envelope bag, making it an over-the-shoulder affair."

Necklaces were worn not only in a conventional manner, but occasionally girdled around the waist with a gold disk belt or edging an off-the-shoulder neckline of a peasant blouse. The return of brass jewelry was noted, as was a platinum group that resembles platinum and was combined with rhinestones.

Gloves complemented various costumes, those of string being recommended for tailored outfits. An attractive tie-up of a black belt and gloves, both studded with nail-heads in the same design.

So you see - - - they pay $25 for a blouse that makes them look like a peasant; $10 for a pair of gloves made out of string and $30 for a belt and gloves with nailheads such as we have on the rubbish heap out in Brookfield.

And then Jean talks about the crazy styles of the prehistoric Egyptian women!

By the way, when Jean went home last night I said to her: "That's a lovely little flower pot you have there. A present for your mother?"

"Flower pot, indeed," she replied. "That's my hat."

I hope I won't mistake my wife's chapeau for a plate of sucroastash this evening.

We admire the skill with which a barber piles his trade. A good barber keeps his tools in good shape. He keeps his razor sharp.

A keen razor is a valuable tool in the hands of a good barber, but it is also very dangerous in unskilled hands.

Medicine is something like a razor. It is only a tool. In the hands of a skillful doctor it is valuable. When used improperly it may be useless or dangerous.

A barber does not use scissors for shaving nor a razor for cutting hair. It is necessary to be skilled in the use of medicines to be able to use them properly.

It is foolish and wasteful to use cure alls. It is not any better to use good medicine improperly.

Pauley's Chances Are Seen As Improving
Republicans Make Big Congressional Drive
Bradley Calls In Medicos In Neuro Cases

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The longer the Senate Naval Affairs committee continues its hearings on President Truman's nomination of Edwin W. Pauley to be undersecretary of the Navy, the better Pauley's chances of confirmation seem to be.

Another factor which may tip the scales in favor of the former Democratic national treasurer is ex-Secretary of the Interior Lester B. Ickes' blast at the President.

Ickes' statement that on one occasion Mr. Truman did not tell the truth about Pauley is regarded as a vote winner for the California oil man.

Political observers pointed out that many Senate Democrats who have been in doubt about which way they would jump will think twice before saying "nay" to the nominee. A "nay" vote would be in effect a repudiation of the President's veracity.

Republicans are believed to be solidly against the nominee, but they will be unable to muster a sufficient majority to rebuff Mr. Truman, according to observers. Biggest guns against Pauley in the floor fight will be Senators Robert Taft (R) of Ohio, and Tobey (R) of New Hampshire. Pauley's principal antagonist in the hearings.

A voice vote confirmation of Robert F. Allen to be an RFC director is said to have further paved the way for a Pauley confirmation.

Politics Getting Sharper

Probably not since 1932 have political considerations so dominated congressional actions, and from now until the November elections even more politics are in sight.

There are several reasons for this situation. One is that the end of the war has brought a sharp rebound of peace-time activities. Another is that the Republicans see a bigger chance now than they have had since the balmy days of 1928.</

Banquet At YMCA

Robert Traugh Main Speaker At Annual Event In YMCA
Dining Hall

With some eighty persons attending the Y.M.C.A. held its annual father and sons banquet last night in the "Y" dining hall, which featured an excellent dinner prepared by Mrs. Ann Berkley of the Y.M.C.A. restaurant, and a fine address by Robert Traugh, western district secretary of the association.

Following the location by Rev. Owen Shields of the Croton Methodist church, and group pep singing led by James Dart of the "Y" staff, Sidney Lockley, Jr., delivered the toast to the fathers.

Sidney Lockley, Sr., who will head the membership drive this year for the branch, retaliated with the toast to the sons.

David Gatrall Speaks

At this point, Robert L. Meermans, general secretary of the local branch, introduced a new member of the staff, David Gatrall, who assumed the duties of boys' and young men's director March 1. Mr. Gatrall introduced himself to the boys and spoke briefly of the new and intensive program that he is working out for the association here in the city.

Main Address

Robert Traugh, in his speech drew his theme from the Bill of Rights and pointed out that just as there is such a bill for the returning veteran, and for each and every citizen, so should there be such an agreement between father and son.

Mr. Traugh based his talk on seven points of character and put across the point that both father and son should strive to elevate himself in the eyes of the other. Only through truthfulness and respect can father and son work well together, he said.

William Winter, director of program activities for the "Y," then spoke briefly to the guests, touching upon the membership drive which is under way this month, the swimming program, and the new summer camp plans.

A closing prayer, led by Rev. Shields, concluded the dinner event.

Enjoy Swim, Games

For those fathers and sons who so desired there was a swimming period in the newly patterned pool following the dinner, and those who did not participate enjoyed games in the boys' room on the second floor.

Former camp councilors acted as waiters at the dinner, with Jim Hamilton, Arnold Lewis, Tom and Bill Hays, and Dick Snow performing these duties.

Pre-Easter Sunday School Campaign Starts Sunday

Campaign Will Start On Sunday

Sixty-Five Sunday Schools To Take Part In Pre-Easter Campaign In County

Four additional Sunday schools have enrolled during the past week in the eight-weeks pre-Easter increase campaign which is being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School association and which will start tomorrow, March 3. This brings the total number of Sunday schools enrolled in Lawrence county to about 65.

The average attendance for the calendar year 1945 is taken as the base for the campaign, and every increase in attendance during the eight weeks over last year's average will count a point. The winners will then be determined by the best percentage of the total points as compared with the base figure.

The goals of the campaign are an increase in evangelism, an increase in Sunday school attendance and an increase in Bible study. In addition to the Sunday school figures that will be published weekly in New Castle, and perhaps Ellwood City, the Sunday schools that report the percentage of the attendance of the Sunday school that remained for the morning worship service, this will also be published.

The awards will be made at the county convention in June.

The 27 participating New Castle Sunday schools, with the average attendance for 1945, are listed below:

First group: Third U. P. 445; First Baptist, 401; Highland U. P. 389; Second U. P. 363; First Presbyterian, 315; Epworth Methodist, 300; First Methodist, 272.

Second group: First Pentecostal, 250; First U. P. 230; Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, 215; Central Presbyterian, 185; First Christian, 172; Mahoning Methodist, 160; the Nazarene, 150.

Third group: Croton Methodist, 155; Central Christian, 154; Maitland Memorial Primitive Methodist, 123.

120; Wesley Methodist, 92; St. John's Lutheran, 91.

Fourth group: Madison Avenue Christian, 85; St. Paul's Lutheran, 83; Mahoning Presbyterian, 80; Savannah Methodist, 80.

Fifth group: First Congregational, 57; Reformed Presbyterian, 48; Bethany Lutheran, 44; North Side Community, 33.

The Ellwood district Sunday schools and average attendances are as follows:

First U. P., 297; First Methodist, 202; First Baptist, 190; Bell Memorial Presbyterian, 172; First Christian, 171; Trinity Lutheran, 170; First Presbyterian, 145; Free Methodist, 145; Slippery Rock Presbyterian, 113; Wurttemberg U. P., 90; Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed, 71.

The other district Sunday schools participating will be run after the campaign starts.

Artist Will Draw At Youth For Christ

Rev. Gordon Whitney Will Draw Gospel Pictures For Youth In First Methodist Church

Rev. Gordon Whitney, Gospel artist and minister, will be the speaker at this evening at the city-wide Youth for Christ rally, to be conducted at 8 o'clock in the First Methodist church, Jefferson at North streets.

Rev. Whitney who is pastor of the First Baptist church, Mt. Pleasant, Pa., uses the unique method of drawing while he speaks to his audiences, using vari-colored lights on his drawings. Representative groups in the audience will receive three of the visiting pastor's paintings, to take home with them.

During the service, the Smitty Girls quintet, along with their director, Mrs. Verla Smith, will be heard in several vocal selections. The ladies ensemble directed by Mrs. Ralph Mooney will assist in the program.

Boo McNeill, popular young pastor, will direct the program. Joe Proctor will conduct the song service with Marie Zook presiding at the piano.

The group is furthering plans for the appearance of Rev. Percy Crawford of Philadelphia, who will come to the city on Friday evening, March 23.

I. What the Bible calls the church:

The church, Eph. 3:10.
The church of God, 1 Cor. 1:2.
The temple of God, 1 Cor. 3:16.
The house of God, 1 Tim. 3:15.
The church of the Lord, Acts 20:28.
The bride of Christ, Eph. 5:21-32.
The church of the first born, Heb. 12:23.
The kingdom of Christ, Col. 1:13.
Churches of Christ, Rom. 16:16.

II. What the Bible calls members of the church.

Members, 1 Cor. 12:27.
Disciples, Acts 6:11.
Believers, Acts 5:14.
Brethren, Acts 9:30.
Saints, Acts 9:13.
Priests, 1 Pet. 2:15.
Children, 1 John 3:1, 2.
Christians, Acts 11:26.

III. The Church of Christ is not a denomination.

Men did not purpose the church, Eph. 3:10.
Men did not build the church, Matthew 16:18.
Men did not name its members, Isa. 62:2; Acts 11:26.
Men did not purchase the church, Acts 20:28.
Men did not give it its doctrine, Gal. 1:11, 12.
Men do not head the church, Eph. 1:22, 23.
Men do not add to the church, Acts 2:47.

IV. One Christ, one church:

One Groom for one bride—One church, John 3:29,
Romans 7:4.
Ephesians 5:23.
One Father for one family—One Church, 1 Timothy 3:15,
Ephesians 2:19.
One Spirit for one body—One Church, Ephesians 4:4, 6.
One God for one temple—One Church, 1 Cor. 3:16, 17.
One King for one Kingdom—1 Timothy 6:13-16.

Burris Campaign Enters Final Week

Outstanding Sermons To Be Presented At The Cathedral Sunday Afternoon And Night

With three weeks of the month-long Burris Evangelistic Campaign, in the Cathedral auditorium, already rounded out, the series goes into the fourth and final week Sunday afternoon, at the North Hill meeting place.

At 2:30 Sunday afternoon, Evangelist Jackie Burris has announced that his final sermon in the prophetic series, entitled "Danger! The Devil is at Work in the Coming World Religion," will be delivered. Sunday evening at 7:30 the entire party, assisted by several laymen, will present a dramatized sermon on the subject, "The Spider and the Fly" basing the sermon on the temptation of the 20th Century that young people are confronted with.

Both services will be preceded by musical programs by the Musical Messengers, including, Neil and Patricia Macauley, the Smiths Girls quartet and their director, Mrs. Vera Smith. There will be no service tonight at the Cathedral, but a part of the party will be heard at the Youth for Christ service, in the First Methodist church. Services will continue every evening next week with the exception of the Saturday night meeting.

Series Continue At Castlewood Mission

Revival services which have been in progress for two weeks at the Castlewood Holiness Mission, Miller's Store annex, Castlewood, will continue next week.

Meetings are being conducted each evening, with the exception of Saturday, at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Victor Paul Bergman, pastor of the mission, is the speaker at this series. Special music is also an added feature of the evangelistic services.

Ministerium To Assemble Monday

New Castle Ministerial association will meet in the First Presbyterian church Monday morning, March 4, at 10 o'clock, when Dr. Walter R. Clyde, guest professor of Christian education at Western seminary, will be the speaker. Dr. R. M. Patterson of Central Presbyterian church will be in charge of devotionals.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH ON W. K. S. T.

Sunday afternoon, the members of the Central Christian church, Long avenue will have charge of the weekly Ministerial Hour, from 3:30 to 4 o'clock, over station, WKST.

Music for the program will be in charge of David Lewis, choir director.

Rev. James N. Rainey, pastor, will speak on the subject, "The Light That Shines Forever."

We'd better recruit special police and get them into Germany before our soft-hearted G. I.'s are all convinced that we wronged the poor Germans.

Congressional Directory Discloses Facts About Pennsylvania Members

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, March 2.—The congressional directory just released for the current session of Congress disclosed some interesting facts about Pennsylvania's senators and representatives . . . U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffey, Democrat, of Pittsburgh, still boasts only of a one line biographical sketch giving his name, party affiliation, residence and emphasizing "unmarried." Although he has been in the Senate only since 1935, Guffey ranks 18th in seniority along with four other senators, an indication of the political pitfalls awaiting candidates . . . His claim to fame is based on the so-called Guffey Bituminous Act of 1935 . . . He is the commonwealth's senior senator. U. S. Sen. Francis J. Myers, of Philadelphia, getting what political crumbs that fall his way.

Dean of the Republican delegation is Rep. James Wolfenden, of Upper Darby, who was elected to Congress in 1928 and has served 10 consecutive terms . . . Runner up is Rep. J. Roland Kinzer, of Lancaster, who entered Congress two years later. The late Rep. J. Buell Snyder, of Perryopolis, and Francis E. Walter, of Easton, shared a similar honor on the Democratic side inasmuch as both entered Congress in 1933. Walters is the only Pennsylvania congressman to have served in both World Wars . . . According to the directory, the only member of the delegation who served with the army during the Spanish American War in 1898 is Robert L. Rogers, of Erie . . . In addition to Walters, Pennsylvania congressmen who served in the armed forces during World War II were William J. Green, Jr., Philadelphia Democrat, and James G. Fulton, Dormont Republican.

Seven of Pennsylvania's 33 congressmen compiled service records during World War I in addition to Walters. They were William T. Granahan and Michael J. Bradley, Philadelphia Democrats; Herman P. Eberharter, Pittsburgh Democrat; and Republicans Iver D. Fenton, of Mahanoy City, Richard M. Simpson, of Huntingdon, Leon Gavin, of Oil City, and D. Emmert Brumbaugh, of Claysburg.

According to the directory, Democrats were appointed to more posts in state government prior to congressional service than Republicans . . . The GOP members, however, captured more elective posts . . . Congressman Louis E. Graham, of Beaver, was the only Republican holding a state job . . . He was a deputy attorney general from 1924 to 1927 . . . Democrats holding appointive jobs were Senator Myers, named deputy attorney general in 1937; Congressman Granahan, a state treasury disbursing officer; John E. Sheridan, Philadelphia, deputy attorney general; Daniel J. Flood, Wilkes-Barre, deputy attorney general . . . Congressman Bradley was a deputy insurance commissioner . . . Eberharter was the only Democrat with former legislative experience . . . He served in the state House from 1935 to 1937 . . . Republicans with state legislative experience were Congressmen Daniel K. Hoch, of Reading, House, 1900-1901; Wilson D. Gillette, Tompkins House, 1930 to 1940; Richard M. Simpson, of Huntingdon, House; and James G. Fulton, of Dormont, Senate, 1939-40.

Replicans with state legislative experience were Congressmen Daniel K. Hoch, of Reading, House, 1900-1901; Wilson D. Gillette, Tompkins House, 1930 to 1940; Richard M. Simpson, of Huntingdon, House; and James G. Fulton, of Dormont, Senate, 1939-40.

Tifereth Men's Club Will Meet

Tifereth Israel Men's club will have an open meeting, on Tuesday evening, March 5, at 8:30 o'clock, in the Tifereth Israel synagogue. At this time Attorney Leda Hartwell, a member of the Mahoning County Bar, of Youngstown, O., will be the speaker. Her topic will be "Russia." Gus Slovinsky, president, will be in charge, and friends of members will attend.

Former Resident Dies At Girard, O.

Mrs. Anna M. Breese, aged 39 years, wife of David J. Breese, of 222 East Main street, Girard, O., died in the Northside unit of the Youngstown hospital, at 9:45 o'clock, Thursday, following a year's illness. Mrs. Breese was born in New Castle, March 1, 1906, daughter of the late Edward O'Brien, and Mrs. Minnie Hogue O'Brien. She resided here for 35 years. She leaves her mother, her husband, a son, Richard; a daughter, Margaret Mary; four sisters, Mrs. D. J. Leibert, Mary, Loretta and Alberta O'Brien, and two brothers, Edward and Leo, all of Girard, O. The body will be taken to the home of her mother, 247 East Liberty street, Girard. Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning at St. Rose church. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery, Youngstown.

League Of Women Voters Program On 'Brotherhood'

League of Women Voters and Legislative department of the Woman's club met jointly in the rose room of the Y. W. C. A. Thursday afternoon for a program on "Brotherhood" in charge of Mrs. Alice Samuels. First part of the program, arranged by Miss Rosa Brown, secretary of the Elm Street Y. W. C. A. was a most interesting discussion of "Fair Employment Practices." Speakers were Mrs. Lillian McHenry and Mrs. Madeline McLaurin who discussed the bill on Fair Employment Practices now in committee in the House of Representatives. They answered questions at the conclusion of their presentation of pros and cons of the subject.

Brotherhood team of the Senior High school was present, and introduced by Mrs. Samuels. William McAnallen spoke on behalf of himself, Roland Nord, Donald Levine, and James Gillespie as representatives of high school students who wish to see brotherhood achieved among groups regardless of race, color, or creed.

Mrs. Lyle Hughes presided over business during which acceptance of by-laws for the League of Women Voters was accepted. Reports on correspondence by Mrs. W. A. Confer and Mrs. Hughes included a reply from State Atty. Gen. James H. Duff in reply to an invitation to address the league at the March meeting.

Mrs. L. P. Kohn reported on an interview with county officials in regard to a welfare survey. Announcement was made that a meeting to consider important pending legislation will be held Tuesday, March 12, at 2:30 in the Y. W. C. A. Next regular meeting will be March 28.

Early Contributor Rushes To Red Cross With Refund On Tax

First contribution received at the Red Cross chapter house on Beaver street after the fund drive opened Friday morning was that of a man now unemployed, who rushed over early in the morning to pay $3.80 which he had received as refund on income tax. The man, of Finnish nationality spoke with some difficulty as he explained that last year he had given a generous contribution, but had been feeling very bad this year because he thought he would be unable to give any at all. This marks the 26th year he has contributed to the Red Cross. Incidentally, the first contributor has two sons in service, one of them still overseas.

DI-NITRO DORMANT FRUIT SPRAY CONTROLS APHIDS

As the result of observations made on several demonstrations, the Agricultural Extension Service is recommending the use of the "Di-Nitro" materials as a dormant spray on apples, sweet and sour cherries. In addition to controlling aphid eggs, these materials have been found effective in the control of tent caterpillar eggs, canker worm eggs and bud moth.

In preparing the "Di-Nitro" spray, either powder or the liquid type of "D. N." can be used. For each 100 gallons of spray, 1½ pounds of the 40 per cent D. N. powder should be used. Or with 100 gallons of water, three pints of the liquid paste "D. N." can be mixed. This material can be applied anytime the temperature is above freezing, but such dormant sprays should be definitely completed before any green shows in the fruit buds.

The combination of oil and Di-Nitro in the dormant season is not recommended, since in some cases this combination was found to cause injury to fruit buds. After the dormant spray, however, growers should use a three per cent oil spray, starting in green tip and completing in the true delayed dormant. The oil will then give best control of the red mite eggs and scale.

Seniors Rehearse Romantic Comedy For Friday Night

Cast Of Thirteen Will Present
Spring Play In High School
Auditorium Friday

Romance and comedy mix delightfully as the ingredients of Dana Thomas' "Moonlight for Henry" a three-act play chosen by Miss Clara Hartsuff and her dramatics students as the spring senior class play.

To be given in the auditorium of the Senior High school Friday evening, March 8, the comedy shows Dana Thomas as a playwright who appreciates the high school actor and his friendly audience. "Moonlight," incidentally, is the name which Henry tenderly coins for the lady of his young dreams.

Members of the cast of this play of suspense and hilarious action are: Betty, baby of the family—Jeanne Lewis.

REPORTS $200,000 DONATED
LEWISBURG, Pa., March 2.—(INS)—Bucknell university's mid-winter commencement at Lewisburg was highlighted today by President Herbert L. Spencer's announcement that $200,000 had been donated to the library construction fund. He would not identify the donor.

Only $125,000 was needed to round out the fund needed for the building which will be the university's first postwar project, he reported.

A French fictionalized radio broadcast which described the earth melting from atom-busting activity caused a terrific uproar. Perhaps the listeners got the idea the globe had turned into hard-to-get sugar.

SURE THE WAR IS OVER-- BUT WE NEED THE RED CROSS

The shooting is over—the troops are coming back home—we are trying to get back on a peace time basis—but there is still an urgent need for the American Red Cross.

For the boy in the hospital recovering from wounds or disease—for the youngster still out on some Pacific island—for men in camps—the war is not over yet.

Lawrence County is asked to give $52,900 in the American Red Cross campaign, that's less than fifty cents per person. The money is needed now almost as much as it was during the war.

Let's not let the Red Cross down. Let's not let Howard B. Cummings, the general chairman and his colleagues down. Let's put the drive over.

Saturday, March 9

The Lawrence County chapter will hold its annual dinner in the Castleton Hotel. If you expect to be present, you had better get your reservation now.

Rotterdam Night Club Stowaway Faces Deportation

NEW YORK, March 2.—(INS)—A beautiful Rotterdam night club singer today awaited deportation and an American ship's purser who helped her stowaway on a U.S.-bound ship faced federal charges today as a result of his good samaritan act.

Blonde Catherina Kaandorf, 23, turned up aboard the collier Cathlamet when the vessel was several days outboard from the Holland port. The purser, Leonard Ralph Drew, 25, readily admitted in court he helped her hide in a stateroom. Catherina was ordered sent back home again and Drew, a former student at the Mansfield (Pa.) State Teachers college, faces possible federal prosecution on a charge of smuggling an alien.

Drew, barred from military service because he lost a leg at the age of eight, worked in war plants in Hartford, Conn., until he got a job last November with the American-West African line.

Delay Return Of Girl Accused In Abduction Case

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(INS)—Return of 15-year-old Geraldine Brozak to Charlotte, N. C., to face charges of kidnapping Terry Taylor, 4, was halted today by a writ of habeas corpus.

James J. Laughlin, a Washington attorney, entered the case unexpectedly and obtained the writ.

Laughlin acted after Dr. Winifred Overholser, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's hospital in Washington, suggested a mental examination might be helpful in determining the course to be followed in the case.

Meanwhile, little Terry was back with her parents. Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Taylor, in the Charlotte home from which she was taken by Miss Brozak last Tuesday.

The two were found Thursday night in the home of an Annapolis, Md., naval officer.

PERSONAL MENTION

Donald McKee of 1215 Finch street has left for California, where he will enter school under the G. I. Bill of Rights. He was recently honorably discharged from the armed forces.

Mrs. V. L. Trushel of 316 North Shenango street is slowly recovering at her home. Mrs. Trushel underwent a serious operation at the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Isabelle Wallace Potter of Washington, D. C., has arrived for a visit with friends and relatives in New Castle and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Uber, Atlantic avenue, have returned home from visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ankney of Mansfield, O. They attended the 69th birthday party of Mr. Ankney in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Merritt Kirkwood.

The UNO wants 5,000 hotel rooms for its New York meeting. This proves that there still are some folk who believe in miracles.

MAY NOT SELL

Possibilities that the county commissioners will refuse to sell 144 acres in Mahoning township to any bidders until after the new highway is put through were indicated Friday when the board met.

Heretofore the commissioners have sold property along the proposed right of way with the stipulation that the purchaser would waive damages due to the new highway. On Friday County Solicitor William McElwee Jr. told the commissioners that under a recent ruling of the state supreme court such stipulations were of no value. "No waiver of damages can be made until after the damage has been done," said Mr. McElwee.

The property in question is 144 acres in size and has been up for bid several times. Starting at $1400 the bids were raised until there is now a bid for $2250. Counsel for one of the bidders checked the title to the property and came up with the surprising information that a mortgage of about $20,000 had been placed against the property many years ago. The mortgage was held by a Youngstown bank which failed in 1933 and the attorney is now endeavoring to find where the mortgage is and whether or not it has ever been paid off.

Should the mortgage be good, the purchaser of the land would be saddled with it. The mortgage can be wiped out by the commissioners establishing an upset price upon the property and offering it for sale. At such a sale it is likely no one would bid and then by permission of the court the property can be sold to the highest bidder, divested of all liens.

In the meantime the commissioners feel that if the property is sold for a few thousand dollars it is possible that a claim for damages might be placed against the state when the new highway goes through. This they want to avoid.

Whose Picture Is On What Postage Stamp

Whose picture is on what postage stamp issued by the Post Office Department? What, you don't know?

Well neither did we. In fact when we got to thinking about it, we couldn't even remember whose picture was on the common three-cent variety, which we lick almost every day.

So we felt we ought to do something to relieve our ignorance, and when we got to inquiring about it at the Post Office, we found that the folks at the post office, who handle hundreds of dollars worth every day, were in just about as bad shape as we were, but they were very willing to oblige us and have a look at the various denominations.

And if they had only known what we found out in the course of our investigation, and knew their presidents, they could have told us without looking. We found that the denominations, with just a few exceptions, all bore the faces of our presidents, and that the stamps appear in the order of their succession.

The exceptions were the penny post card, the greatest value offered by the Post Office department, which will take its message all over the world almost, for just one cent; the two-cent stamp, the 16 and 19 cent ones. These presidents have been omitted, and a couple of them were really famous presidents. Neglected are John Adams, who should appear, according to the scheme on the two-cent stamp; Lincoln, on the 16, and Rutherford Haves, on the 19. The latter two denominations are not issued.

Stamps run in value from one-half cent to twenty cents, with the exception of the 16 and 19 cents, then jump to 25 and 50 cents, thence to the dollar.

The half-cent stamp bears the portrait of Ben Franklin, who was postmaster general under the British crown from 1753 to 1774. He is the only person outside of a president, whose picture appears on the regular varieties of stamps, with which this article has to do. We are not taking into consideration the commemorative stamps, which appear every time the Post Master General issues a slight deficit. Stamp collectors flock to the post office to buy them, and generally turn up in the line in front of the stamp window just when the clerks are the busiest. The post office department issues a two-dollar stamp and a five-dollar stamp, but calls for them are infrequent here, and they are not kept in stock. Some don't know whose pictures are on them.

Ben Franklin's picture as we said, before is on the half-cent stamp, with Thomas Jefferson's on the penny post card. Washington is on the one and two-cent stamps. Then following him in the order of succession, with the above noted exceptions are: Thomas Jefferson, 3-cent; James Madison, 4-cent; James Monroe, 5-cent; John Quincy Adams, 6-cent; Andrew Jackson, 7-cent; Martin Van Buren, 8-cent; William Henry Harrison, 9-cent; John Tyler, 10-cent; James K. Polk, 11-cent; Zachary Taylor, 12-cent; Millard Fillmore, 13-cent; Franklin Pierce, 14-cent; James Buchanan, 15-cent; Andrew Johnson, 17-cent; Ulysses S. Grant, 18-cent; James A. Garfield, 20-cent; William McKinley, 25-cent; William Howard Taft, 50-cent; and Woodrow Wilson, one dollar.

IN THE OPEN

I have been invited to participate in an owl hunt sometime during late March. The objective will be to capture as many great horned owls as possible, taking both adults and young. I have played the role of interested spectator in many outdoor adventures, but this will be the first time I have ever helped hunt down that tiger of the nocturnal woods, the bloodthirsty great horned owl. If we have luck perhaps there will soon be a little owl mouth to feed in our household, with all attendant excitements.

Most of the owls are distinctly beneficial bird neighbors, eliminating countless mice and rats and snakes and other vermin. The farmer and the "tiger-happy" sportsman who kills these birds is only spilling their way, and are deserving of fullest protection. The great horned owl cannot claim this immunity. He is a natural, vicious killer, the unrelenting enemy of all game birds and small game, and a clever, savage raider of the poultry house.

Contrary Period

Late February has been quite contrary, refusing to pass along the word that it is high time the robins, and the bluebirds, and our old friends the red-winged blackbirds were settling in from their winter quarters. The steady diet of near-freezing temperatures, accompanied by driving winds and intermittent snow flurries, has practically "grounded" the outdoorsman. Although March is only a few days distant, the woodland trails are still those of the winter woods, and the countryside still has that late-December look.

I buttoned my jacket about my throat and made a leisurely journey across the valley to the "owl-tree" by the creek side to see if Mr. Owl was at home. I have not yet seen this bird, although the presence of pellets indicates this den is being used constantly. The day was dark and dismal, with a wet spatter of snow slapping me full in the face. The thickets were apparently lifeless, and it seemed hard to believe that in these same coverts I have met and visited with so many of the feathered multitudes.

Varieties of Owls

Everyone who has spent any time in the open has encountered one or more of the six or seven varieties of owls living hereabouts. The screech owl, who nests in our hollow trees and serenades his lady love right outside our windows, is probably the best known. One spring evening recently, just at nightfall, a screech owl crashed into the windshield of my car as I drove to the neighboring town.

I stopped the car and hastened back to save the bird from the wheels of other motorists passing that way. The apparently lifeless body lay in the middle of the highway. I happened to have an empty shoebox in the car, so I picked up the owl and after completing my errand, carried him along home to show to the family. When I opened the box we found this owl was still very much alive, having only been stunned by the collision with my windshield. We perched him on the back porch swing where he sat and regarded us wisely out of his yellow staring eyes. He finally grew tired of our company and flew out into the night.

Surprising Encounter

One late afternoon, while fishing a famous trout stream in central Pennsylvania I enjoyed a rather surprising encounter with an adult long-eared owl. I was taking a short cut across a wide bend in the stream, following a railroad track which traverses the valley at this point. Suddenly a large bird swooped out of the trees to my left and dove almost directly into my face, pulling up sharply when only a foot or two distant. The attack was accompanied by an almost constant bill snapping.

I instinctively struck at the bird and at the same instant recognized it as a long-eared owl. Somewhere near by was its young, and this parent was gallantly defending them. I made several trips back and forth along that short piece of railway. Each time that owl came out of the shadows and charged full at me, his bill clacking like a toy machine gun.

Barn Owl Recalled

The first time I ever saw a barn owl was many years ago. I was then just a lad and had gone alone for elderberries to a rather secluded spot. I recall there was a high wire fence surrounding this area where livestock were pastured. I was following along this fence row when I suddenly came upon the queer looking monkey-faced bird among the branches of a windfall.

While I watched with fascination the ludicrous antics of this comical owl, a hair raising sound from the timber near by drove me to the top of that fence in one terrified leap. I imagined panthers and wild cats and all sorts of horrible things. As I fearfully watched the woods from my safe perch a big black mule came crashing through the trees and brayed once again, marking the second time in my tender years that I had heard this Missouri "canary" sing.

In Slaying Of Girl

Man Is Held For Killing Of College Graduate At Columbia, Missouri

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 2.—(INS) Floyd Cochran, 34-year-old negro today was charged with first degree murder in the killing of Marilyn Jenkins, Stephens college graduate.

Police Chief N. B. Hagan of Columbia said Cochran has confessed the strange murder of Miss Jenkins and the shotgun killing of his wife, Mae Ann, whose body was found in the Cochran home last Sunday.

The body of Miss Jenkins, with a 36-foot extension electric cord wrapped around the neck, was found by her mother in the three-room home in Columbia last February 5.

A coroner's jury found that the 26-year-old girl had been criminally assaulted before she was slain.

Lt. Gatrall Is Given Discharge

Local Navy Officer Begins Duties As Boys' Work Director At Y.M.C.A.

Lt. (jg) David L. Gatrall, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gatrall of Hillcrest avenue, has recently been discharged from service in the U. S. navy, and has joined his wife, the former Betty Kay Matthews, and little daughter Nancy, residing at 504 W. Park way.

Lt. Gatrall entered the service in December, 1943, receiving his boot training at Sampson, N. Y., following which he served as physical instructor there. Later, he received a commission as ensign and upon completing training at Princeton and Harvard universities was assigned to the USS Portland, a heavy cruiser. He served as radio officer aboard this ship in the Pacific for the past year.

Lt. Gatrall is a graduate of Allegheny college and received his Master's degree at Penn State. He started his work as boys' work director at the local Y. M. C. A. March 1.

Garden Notes

Plants which have been heaved out of the soil during the winter should be carefully re-planted, before the sun and wind dry their roots and cause them to die.

If inspection of your dahlias tubers reveals that decay has set in during winter storage, cut out the decayed spots, give them a liberal dusting of sulphur, let them dry for a few days, and repack.

Remove old canes of blackberries and raspberries, leaving vigorous one-year-old canes to produce fruit. Watch closely for shriveled, diseased areas in the canes, denoting cankers. Cut them out and burn them.

Among the flower seeds which will repay an extra early start indoors are china asters, salpiglossa, salvia farinacea, lupines, stocks, candytuft, ageratum, dianthus and dahlias.

Prepare hotbeds any day now; place in a sheltered corner where sunlight is available—a southern exposure is best. Place manure in the bottom of the pit about 18 inches, well tramped, and do not plant seeds until the soil temperature falls to below 50 degrees.

As bulbs and herbaceous plants will undoubtedly start growth early this spring great care should be taken when uncovering them not to expose their frozen tops to the sun or to be unprepared to cover them temporarily again if a sudden and severe cold spell occurs.

NEWS OF MEN AND WOMEN IN U. S. SERVICE

The following New Castle soldiers have been released from the armed forces at the Indiantown Gap center: Cpl. John G. Yakopovich, 230 South Liberty street, Pfc. Bernard Giancola, 106 East Phillips street; Cpl. Calvin C. Wynn, 210 Short street; S-Sgt. Joseph D. Allen, 335 Berger street.

First Lieut. Anthony L. Colello, 1027 Pollock avenue, has been discharged at the Fort Dix, N. J., center.

George Bevan, fireman second class of the USS Arkansas, is spending a 22-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Taley Bevan, 1228 Randolph street. At the conclusion of his leave sailor Bevan will return to his ship in San Pedro, Calif. He will be one of the crew to take the Arkansas to the Marshall Islands where the battleship will be used in the atom bomb tests.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis P. Dean, of 814 Arlington avenue, from their son, Pearson Dean, H. A. 1-c, saying he is confined to the Naval hospital, Oakland, Calif. Pearson sustained a fractured ankle on Saturday, and is getting along as well as can be expected.

Sam Calazza, 108 Friendship street, has been discharged from the U. S. Coast Guard after three years in service, including participation in the invasion of the French coast and in action on the coast of North Africa.

Receiving their final papers at the Sampson, New York, naval base were the following New Castle sailors: Russel A. Hedland, Fireman first class 711 Croton avenue; Glenn H. Lutz, CM 3-c, 1323 Pennsylvania avenue; Robert H. Gwin, SF 1-c, 1006 Adams street; Charles L. Cunningham, Coxswain, 325 Lathrop street; and Francis J. Egan, RM 2-c 416 W. North street.

Private Antonio R. Nuzzo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nuzzo, 5 N. Wayne street, has arrived at the reinforcement depot at Furstenfeld, black Germany and will soon be assigned to a permanent station.

It has been learned that Private Anthony DiSimone, 304 E. Lutton street, was recently transferred to the 8th Photo technical squadron of the 40th Bomb Wing, with headquarters in England, Germany, where the war crimes tribunal is being held.

Private Marion J. DeCarbo, son of Mrs. Carmella DeCarbo, 1505 S. Jefferson street, is now in Germany awaiting a further assignment with the occupational forces.

Wallace Smith

Given Discharge

Veteran of two theaters of the war, Sgt. Wallace E. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, 817 W. Washington street, has received his honorable discharge from the armed forces after three years in uniform.

Sgt. Smith saw action in the Ruhr pocket, central Germany, and Czechoslovakia and after the cessation of fighting in Europe was sent to the United States for a 30-day furlough.

In September, 1945, Sgt. Smith was sent to Japan where he served with the occupation forces in Yokohama and Tokyo.

Sgt. Smith wears the ETO ribbon, the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon, the American theater ribbon, the good conduct ribbon and the World War II victory medal.

NOW . . . MORE THAN EVER HE NEEDS YOUR RED CROSS

V-Day is history, but Victory over war's effects on our disabled service men is far in the future!

And thousands of Red Cross women are still in active heart-warming service—abroad and at home—still helping to lift the burdens of worried—crippled—discouraged—homesick G. I.'s.

This is the war that never ends—calling on the Red Cross for the services that must never fail our victorious troops—and calling on you for the contributions that are needed now—even more than they were in the years of battle!

STILL URGENTLY NEEDED. As long as the Red Cross is needed, clubs and canteens will offer a touch of home to G. I.'s in Germany and Japan. And meanwhile flood and disaster will require instant emergency service here at home. Give Now!

NECESSARY FOR YEARS. The slow convalescence of a crippled veteran in a hospital calls for months of unflagging, genuine sympathy and encouragement from Red Cross social workers. This kind of service must be available for years. To make it possible, give now.

"ALWAYS READY". Disaster, flood, and epidemic must never find the Red Cross unprepared to render instant, effective service on the spot—and getting the injured away to safety. Your contribution will make effective service possible at once—everywhere!

YOUR RED CROSS MUST CARRY ON . . .

GIVE!

NEW CASTLE STORE

If This Keeps Up, Men Will Wed The House, Not The Girl

CHICAGO, March 2.—(INS)—Lady, your future looks brighter. It looks more carefree, too.

Fears that feminine war workers might be driven back to household crudery were dispelled today by exhibitors at the National Association of Home Builders in Chicago. Home appliance manufacturers believe they can lure the lady back to a kitchen.

Doesn't Play Marbles Though
For her, they have designed a dishwasher which will clean, rinse and dry silverware, dishes, glasses, pans and even soak-meated broilers. It's simple enough for junior to put the dishes in the rack and press a button while mother and dad entertain in the living room.

Forget about nicking fingernail polish when cleaning garbage from the sink. Instead, push a button, or turn a handle—depending upon the manufacture—and wash the grapefruit seeds down the drain. An under-the-sink contraption will cut the refuse and push it into the drain without clogging the pipe.

The modern housewife can take washday in stride—and even like it. She can pile the wash into the new machine, turn a switch and go marketing. When she returns, her laundry is washed, rinsed and ready to hang on the line.

Good As A Cafeteria
With a new electric range installed, the lady may play bridge or stay to tea until 6 p. m., and still have dinner on the table by 6:30.

A clock on the range and the oven temperature regulator can be set before she leaves home. The oven will click on at the appointed time, keep a steady heat, and click off when the roast is done.

The kitchen and all of the home will be light-filled, made pleasantly close to nature by huge plate glass windows—insulated. Yards hand-escaped with shutoff hedges will provide privacy.

Even lower priced houses will have spacious living rooms, enlarged by providing dining space in a semi-enclosed alcove or "L."

But, lady, there is a string attached to your dream of leisure. You may be one of the two and one-half million who are looking or will be looking for a house by the end of the year.

Quick, Where's A Candle?
Suppose you have a house. You're lucky. But if it was built 10 or 15 years ago, plan installation of new electric circuits for your no-work washing machine, electric range, iron and lighting. Manufacturers found too many appliances on a small circuit reduce efficiency, unbalance budgets, and might create a fuse-blowing catastrophe.

If the house is built and its electric wiring sufficient, sit back and let your war bonds accumulate interest.

New appliances are on the production line, but they won't roll off until materials to make them become more plentiful.

E. Lackawannock

Mary Miller of Jefferson township, was a recent visitor at the home of her classmate, Eleanor Osborne.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Pyle attended the funeral of her brother-in-law, Ben. Neilson, at Akron, O., last week.

Fred Forsythe of Leesburg was a Thursday evening visitor at the home of his nephew, Clarence Humphrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Hammond of New Castle spent recent days at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Humphrey.

Mrs. Floyd Anderson was a dinner guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Courtney, in Findley township on a recent day, honoring her mother's birthday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Price of New Castle spent a few days visiting at the home of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Yarian.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller announce the birth of their first grandchild, a son, born to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Miller on February 25.

Earl Patton of New Castle spent recent days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pyle. Mr. Pyle is able to be up in a wheel chair at this time.

Mrs. J. W. Humphrey who is spending the winter with her brother, Fred Forsythe, at Leesburg, accompanied by her brother, were visitors at the home of her son, Elmer, and family, on a recent evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Anderson of Woodbury, O., were recent afternoon visitors at the home of his brother, Floyd, and wife, and accompanied them to New Castle, where they attended the wedding of their nephew, Dwight Anderson, at the Calvary Gospel Tabernacle.

Sam Tranquillo Granted Discharge

After 34 months in the armed forces, one year of which was on the island of Saipan in the Pacific, Sgt. Sam Tranquillo, son of Mrs. Louis Tranquillo, 624 Arlington avenue, has received his honorable discharge from the army.

Sgt. Tranquillo wears the meritorious unit citation, the good conduct medal, the Asiatic-Pacific theater ribbon, the American theater ribbon, and the victory medal.

He is now residing with his wife at 501 Uber street.

Mrs. William G. Parsons of 415 Edgewood avenue has returned from Aliquippa and states that her mother, Mrs. Henry Watkins, who is confined to Sewickley hospital, is resting nicely.

Arrive In City From Dallas Texas

Joe Garza, local flight instructor and Bob Brest, recent pilot for the navy, arrived in New Castle, Thursday evening from Dallas, Tex., piloting the second of the new Vultee trainer planes to arrive at the local airport for use in charter service. The local pilots left Dallas at 9:30 a. m. Thursday flying the 1200 miles in eight hours at an average speed of 150 miles per hour. Three stops were made, due to radio trouble that developed during the trip.

Senators over 70 say age hasn't lessened their ability. Still, it's a good alibi—and how can they explain the Senate's behavior if it isn't senility?

Crop And Feed Loans Available

Crop and feed loans are available for Lawrence county farmers. I. J. Nealon of Butler, state supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan office, points out. Purchase of fertilizer and other supplies for the 1946 crop should be made well in advance, so that they will be on hand when needed.

To assist those wishing to apply for loans, Mr. Nealon will be at the New Castle post office from 9 to 12 a. m. on March 12, and at the New Wilmington post office at 1 p. m. on the same date.

Plus 30 Cream

Desirable after Thirty! Urgent after Forty!

Plus 30 Cream contains only the genuine hormones found in nature, not a synthetic imitation. When absorbed by the skin, this hormone ingredient tends to replenish nature's lagging supply of the glandular substance which contributes to the smoothness.
